Stolen car

Upland resident Kenneth Preston was surprised to find that his car was stolen from the St. Joseph's Catholic Church parking lot on Monday August 3

Church parking lot on Monday, August 3.

He was even more surprised to hear that it had been found the following day. The yellow, LTD Ford had been abandoned in Alta Loma on Banyon Avenue near the wash.

It wasn't really too surprising that five tires had been taken from the automobile, but quite distressing that the contents of an attache case had also been confiscated. Preston, who is employed by Reliable Bearing and Supply Company, Etiwanda, reports that the missing papers were from his office and hold no value to anyone except Reliable Bearing and Supply.

Reliable Bearing and Supply.

Preston is offering a reward for the missing papers, no questions asked. He may be contacted at 987-4774 or 629-5007 before 5 p.m.

Who knows what other surprises lay in store for Preston. Maybe he'll even get his tires back. We hope so.

Help needed

The combined West End Boys' Clubs, including the Upland and Cucamonga Boys' Clubs, need a helping hand. Executive director, Rudy Rodriguez, is sorely in need of a typewriter to handle the reams of paperwork involved with the directorship of the three clubs.

The Cucamonga club is searching for a desk -- possibly a used one that could be spruced up with a coat of paint. The combined clubs would like to acquire a camera to record outings and sporting events for posterity purposes as well as publicity.

The clubs are also in need of approximately 25 sleeping bags for camping sojourns.

Anyone who thinks they may have an item that will fill the bill should contact Dr. James Phelps, president of the combined clubs, at 982-8841.

Youth employment

The San Bernardino County Summer Youth Employment Program announced an entertainment addition to Summer, 1970, with a Youth Festival to be held at Lytle Creek Park on Saturday, Aug. 29 at 10 a.m.

Park on Saturday, Aug. 29 at 10 a.m.

The all-day free admission event will headline such entertainers as Bill Cosby and the Badfoot Brown, and the Bunions Bradford Funeral and Marching Band, Rosie Grier, Stu Gardner and The Real Thing and The Mode.

Political figures on hand for the festival will be Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke, Congressman Jerry Pettis, and County Supervisors Ruben Ayala and Nancy Smith.

College pool

The Chaffey College swimming pool will be closed, Saturday, Aug. 15, and re-opened for the summer recreational schedule on the following day.

The reason for the one-day shutdown is an electricity cutoff for an eight-hour period to allow time for repairs and maintenance in the transformer rooms and campus. Chaffey's Olympic-size pool is scheduled for community use through Aug. 30. The hours are 12:30 until 5:30 daily except for Wednesdays when they are entended to 7-9

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Cap rental is 15 cents. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult after 3:30 p.m.

Candidates forum

A candidates forum featuring the candidates running in the Upland School District's trustee election to be held Aug. 25, will be held by the Chamber of Commerce, Friday, Aug. 14, at 7:30 a.m. at the Arbor Restaurant, Foothill Boulevard and San Antonio Avenue. Cost of the breakfast is $2 per person and the public is invited to attend. Adjournment is at 8:30 a.m.

The candidates who are running and who have been invited to speak are Barry Brandt, Raymond Bailey, Robert Goggin, Mrs. Anne Henke, Richard Holdaway, Fred Kramer Dan Newburn, and William Reinhold.

The candidates are seeking the one seat open on the board that was held by Floyd Allen who resigned earlier this year. Reservations and information may be had by calling the chamber office at 982-8816.

Trustees approve Chaffey budget

At a public hearing on the Chaffey College fiscal program for 1970-71, the Board of Trustees Thursday August 6, adopted a budget of $5.734.200 budget of $5,734,290.

The budget will provide tuition-free instruction for about 7600 college men and women from the Chaffey, Chino and Fontana Unified School Districts.

The total fiscal package shades the budget for the previous academic year by $251,696, and is geared to a .5829 tax rate per $100 of assessed valuation. This rate is about 3 mills more than that for 1969-70.

Reflected in the new budget are a six percent cost-of-living pay hike and broadened health insurance benefits for employes. Budgeted, too, is 37 percent more funding for instructional supplies, primarily in the data processing and library areas. The board approved also a budget of $124,298 for the Actuation

Center, a student self-help agency for disadvantaged scholars. Funding sources for the Actuation Center budget are the Chaffey Community College District, $22,824; the State, $75,020 (SB 164); the Federal Government, $23,334, and community donations, $3,120.

A train on Euclid Avenue?

How about that!

How did a train get on Euclid Avenue? Well, it's an old story, dating back to 1916 and before. It seems the old Pacific Electric Co. had a franchise to operate on the Avenue and before that, there were the mule cars. So, really trains have always been a part of Euclid Avenue. In 1916, the Southern Pacific Railroad took over the P.E. franchise and in 1966 the franchise ran out. But the city fathers did not want to pay the $5 or $6 thousand it would cost annually to eliminate the tracks and train. So, the train comes frequently to deliver material to the business located on A Street. And, sometimes the engineer just leaves his train parked on the meridian while he takes his coffee break

New superintendent sought by committee

Selection of a new superintendent for the Upland School District is still underway, school officials said Monday.

Meeting with the board of trustees in the selection are Leon Kern, president of the Principals Association; Lois Saltgaver, vice president, California School Employees Association and Ray Clooze, chairman of the Negotiating Council.

There were 45 applications filed with San Bernardino County Schools Office Superintendent, Roy C. Hill, He, along with Dr. Don Wheeler, recently appointed superintendent for Redlands School District and Dr. Robert West, chairman of Dept. of Education, Cal State, San Bernardino, narrowed the applications down to five which were then passed on to the Upland trustees and their Previously the board had indicated it would not select a superintendent this school year. This action came after the re-assignment of former superintendent Vern Orum to a one year contract to do some consultant work. His salary was set at $24,654. Orum is now serving as assistant superintendent, business in the Barstow School District. The board has said it is trying to find a way to re-negotiate his contract.

Criteria for the new superintendent is as follows. Omitted in the criteria is a set salary for the position of superintendent.

Negotiations plague CUHS officals

No settlement was reached between teachers and the Chaffey Union High School District officials in their continuing struggle to negotiate a 1970-71 contract.

"Some extraneous matters were resolved," Supt. Allan G. Smith said, but since no final contract was approved, he said these could not be revealed.

"Let's just say we're down to the meat of the thing -- the salary negotiations -- now," Smith added.

Mediators from the California Conciliation Service met with teachers' representatives and school board trustees. The service was called in after more than four months of negotiations proved fruitless.

Points of contention, teachers say, are curriculum, learning environment, class size, personnel policies, salaries, health and welfare benefits and miscellaneous other topics.

A 3 per cent pay increase had been provided in the district's

A 3 per cent pay increase had been provided in the district's 1970-71 budget, however, this was deemed "unsatisfactory" by the teachers.

The conciliation service ordered Chaffey trustees to appropriate enough money in undistributed reserves to cover any forthcoming salary increase. The budget was passed with heavy reserves totaling $1,051,419.

Although Scandinavia is third of the way around the world away from Wall Street and its problems, the plight of the American railroads is the main topic of conversation among English speaking visitors.

The recent Penn Central bankruptcy has caused a rash of nostalgic stories on the joys of yesteryear, associated with passenger rail travel of two or three generations ago. Time has a habit of slipping by quite noiselessly, and in the process dulling the memory. There was nothing glamorous about such travel - the chair coach of a few years ago offered a smell of bananas and orange peelings overlaid with a coating of coal

The rest rooms were invariably filthy and the occupants of the next seat just as invariably brought along their two day old lunches. A news butch wandered up the aisle offering warm soft drinks at double the usual prices - fruit that now would go direct to the garbage can and stale candy that would give today's public health officer a real case of the shudders.

The occasional Pullman Foot 'N' Fiddle passenger was assigned a cubicle in which only a dwarf or contortionist could successfully disrobe and the lineup for the men's room stretched down the aisle from daybreak on.

There is only one present way of getting from here to there - that is more uncomfortable. Yesterday I experienced an eight hour trip in a capacity loaded bus, billed as the Hamlet Tow.

What about editorials?

Do editorials ever accomplish anything? We believe they do. In the two years I have served in Upland this is what the record shows.

- Oct "68 - A safety campaign was conducted because of three fatalities.

The year before the city had won a safety award. We asked motorists to be aware of safety and asked the mayor to declare Halloween as Traffic Safety Day. Halloween is now permanently Traffic Safety Day, as a reminder at least once a year to be aware of traffic safety.

- Jan. "69 - We asked people to become involved in civic affairs and urged taxpaying residents to attend civic meetings. Have you seen the standing room only crowds at the council and school board meetings lately? Citizens are involved.

- April "69 - Our first editorial page was launched and we asked a reevaluation of the park and recreation plan. It is now being done. We chided the council for "executive sessions" and the outgrowth was better communications with them.

- Summer "69 - We applauded and nagged the Sign Review Committee during the several months they took to revise the sign ordinance. The results were a better sign ordinance and two public hearings on the matter were held instead

- In other editorials we commended the class of "69, asked employers to hire youth and citizens to up-date bowser's license. We chided Chaffey Union High School District for its attempt to "south side" students, the busing

- Fall of "69 - We conducted a campaign to up-grade the Boys Club facilities and to be aware of some of the city's minority problems. There has been a re-organization of the club and participation of all boys instead of a few. There is communication in the minority community and an attempt to up-grade Los

- We asked for a complete zone study to balance residential with compatible commercial, this was undertaken and completed by the Chamber of commerce. - Spring of "70 - We commended art festivals, schools, libraries and urged people to support community events. We asked Mayor Gibson to consider all people who wanted to serve on city commissions and to let the Parks and Recreation committee be free of a councilman as its head chairman.

Of course, we asked for things that did not get done, like year-round schools, city beautification, a set of goals for the community, development of "clean" industry and a re-evaluation of the financing of the Park bonds.

How about the future? Goals I would like to see accomplished are unification of schools along community boundry lines, full time recreation director using buildings that are available now. And, including all ages, a place for teenagers to drop in and have a coke. The green belt used for creative recreation including a golf course, riding trails in the washes and nature areas, a city beautification and a concern for the environment. People involved in solving problems and enjoying the fruits of involvement, especially on a people to people basis.

All-stars tournament is thrill packed

UPLAND-Upland Foothill and American League fans, numbering in the hundreds, were treated to a thrill-packed allstar game as Steve Schi-ro, 12, hurled a 3-0 nohitter for the Foothill team in Friday's tournament at Flowers Field.

Excellent pitching by American's Frank Pastore and Schiro kept the two teams scoreless and hitless for 3 and 1/2 innings. In the bottom of the fourth FLL shortstop Glenn Shenker grounded out for the first out, Stan Smith belted a single then stole second, Schiro also singled, sending Smith to third, then advanced to second on a wild throw. Dan Monroe (1B) ripped out a third single, scoring Smith for the first run of the game. Jay Morton (CF) struck out for the second out, Joe Techau (RF) loaded the bases when he was hit by a pitch, bringing up third baseman Ricci On the first pitch Borba drove a double over the centerfielder, against the wall sending in Schiro and Monroe to bring the score to 3-0. Second base-man Chuck Derrick popped up to Steve Springer (1B) for the third out.

Foothill again loaded the bases in the 5th, with outs, when Smith was hit by a pitch, Shiro singled for his second hit, and Monroe walked, but were unable to score any more runs.

A brilliant catch in center field by Kelly Martin, a slow grounder to Schiro (the pitcher) and a fine play to first on a grounder to Shenker ended the game in the top of the 6th to give home team FLL a thrilling victory. In the final tally, Pastore allowed 5 hits and only 1 walk while striking out 7 batters, Schiro walked 2 and struck out Leftfielder Scott Curry of the American was the only player to reach second base when he lined a drive to 3 B and was safe on a throwing error by Borba, and advanced on a walk by the next batter.

Upland Foothill Little League advanced to the winner's circle for the Area I title in the District 23 tournament play when Manager Bob Emilio's All - Star team blanked the Upland Na-tional team 3-0 Sat. at Flowers Field. Right-hander Dan Monroe handed in a fine pitching performance, striking out 11 batters, walking only off National pitcher Ken

Owens, who struck out

1 and allowing 2 hits. Mike Emilio proved a stronghold behind the plate, while Glenn Shenker, SS, Ricci Borba 3B, Chuck Derrick 2B, and Steve Schiro 1B, com-pleted the infield. Stan Smith, Jay Morton and Joseph Techau protected the outfield. Coach is Frank Reed.

The first run by Foothill came in the top of the second when, with bases loaded and 1 out, Derrick lined out to National's rightfielder Earwood, bringing in Morton who had walked, advanced to 2nd on a fielder's choice by Monroe, then reached 3rd on a single by Shenker. Both teams held tight till the top of the 6th when Schiro singled, and Morton blasted out a homer over the left-centerfield fence for two runs to cinch the lead at 3-0.

Other hits, all singles, were by Emilio, Borba, Morton and Monroe to bring the total to 6 hits

Rowland Heights summer school session ended

ROWLAND HEIGHTS-"Drop out" was not a prevalent word at Rowland Elementary School in Rowland Heights during summer school this year, and many children left for family vacations with reluctance during July. With the emphasis on Marine Life, the teachers came up with really special ways to bring new learning experiences to the children and stimulate regular attendance. The highlight of the session was the trip by each class to Cabrillo beach for a tour of the museum and some "tidepooling". An extremely varied program was presented by Miss June Lawrence to her second grade class. On July 8, they released gas balloons with post cards attached, asking that the card be returned with a note as to where it was found. The entire school was thrilled when one came back marked "North Pole -11:30 p.m. (It's still light here). Miss Lawrence served breakfast one Monday morning, and made homemade ice cream another Monday. Plays and poetry readings made reading period an adventure

Mrs. Fern Novelli sent away for sea horses which arrived during the last week. Each class had a chance to observe the tiny creatures. Miss Marion Markee's class hatched sea monkeys, a member of the shrimp family, and watched them grow. There was a special ice cream treat every Friday for perfect attendance

Kay Nichols named 4H beef winner in county

Kay Nichols, La Verne, was selected as the 1970 4-H Beef winner in the Los Angeles County 4-H program, Kay's outstanding achievement in breeding and market beef for the past six years gave her the nod from the judges.

She developed her beef project from a one steer project to four steers a year, adding a breeding project of nine animals. she has groomed and cared for her animals, given shots, trimmed hoofs and planned the feeding program. Showing her animals at San Gabriel Valley 4-H fairs and Los Angeles County Fairs, she has won many champion and first plac-

Active in her 4-H club for 8 years, she has held positions as club secretary, historian and vicepresident; Hi-4H secretary and vice president; camp assistant director for 1970; San Gabriel Fair director for 1971, Fair Beef chairman and Large Livestock Director 1970.

Kay has won large livestock judging medals and trophies in showmanship contests and was L. A. County 4-H beef medalist two years. in 1969 she was selected County All Star, highest county 4H award. She wears the Gold Star award on her cap. In June she took home the Outstanding Member Trophy of her 92-member club, after winning it for the past three years.

She has given service to her club members as Junior Leader for 3 years in the field of clothing and beef. As Junior Key Home Economics leader, she has organized clothing workshops and demon-strations for San Gabriel district. In 8 years, Kay advanced from apron and garment bag exhibits to a tailored wool wardrobe project. Her service activities include compiling an Auction Buyer's Packet to assist 4-Hers in obtaining prospective buyers. Because of hazards where she lives, she wrote a safety pamphlet for her local area, distributing it to neighbors. Close to her animals, she wanted small children to appreciate animals more, so she put together a storybook, drawing pictures of the young calf's first experiences growing up.

4-H is a way of life for
Kay who feels that the organization presents opportunities in leadership and achievement for anyone who wants to improve throught meeting respon-sibilities and working with others. She plans to teach home economics.

Instructions to clear slide

WALNUT -- Collegewood tract property own-ers involved in the February 1969 slides on their property will have prob-ably until Sept. 1 to get the slopes properly graded, reported City Manager A. C. Lazzaret-

The City Council de-cided that it is up to those property owners to clean up their property. They waived fees for the property owners, but they will need a grading per-mit. A qualified contractor can draw up a grad-ing plan and City Engineer Byron Curl will give it needed approval. But each property owner must put his own property in order, council decided.

The decision came 1 -1/2 years after heavy rains caused several dirt and rock slides in the tract, notably a giant slide on the slope above Col-legewood Ave. The roadway was reduced to one lane for about 100 feet. The slide caused a water main to break and a portion of the street in the 20500 block to buckle. The damage has never been remedied.

Pipes were placed 120 feet into Buckland Avenue slope in December 1969 to protect it from the anticipated season, which never came, Lazzaretto noted. Water is still coming out of the slopes and may percolate down from Shadow Mountain Drive where people water their

The city has estab-lished eligibility for funds from the State Disaster Office until Jan. 26, 1971, the city manager said.

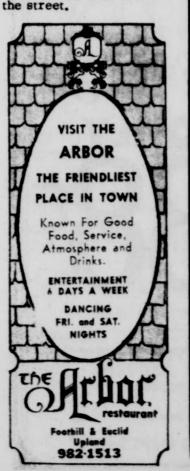

The city would remove dirt from the street, install curbs, gutters and sidewalks, but touch noth-ing on the slopes. That will be done after the property owner has conformed to conditions in the notice the city will mail him, Lazzaretto said there would be a minimum amount of excavation.

City Attorney Sam Siegel added a note of caution, explaining that the dirt pile on Collegewood acts as a weight on the toe of the slide. "It might slide," he said. "We can't order citizens to remove dirt from a right-ofway." Lazzaretto said he and other city officials had talked to state disaster officials and were told that the city's responsibility isn't connected with the slope.

City Engineer Curl warned the council that the county geologist said that no dirt should be removed from the slope and that the engineering report had not been changed.

"Slides are things we have to face when we come to them," Cheek com-mented, "It is extreme-ly inconvenient for people on Collegewood Drive.' Property owners were notified by letter last August to correct slope conditions and will again be notified. At the end of the 30-day period, if the pro-perty owner hasn't corrected the condition, the road department will repair Collegewood Drive and the Walnut Valley Water District will replace the broken main. The district has been serving 11 homes on Collegewood by a temporary pipe line on Savings insured to $20,000.00 by an Act of Congress.

Upland Savings pays the maximum interest on insured savings. No other insured financial institution in America can offer you higher interest or more insurance, because all insured financial institutions' interest and insurance are regulated by governmental regulations.

Upland Savings is a part of America's insured savings system whose total assets exceed $150,000,000,000.00 (150 billion dollars) and where, throughout America, over 44,000,000 (44 million) savers save. As a savings counselor, we suggest you look at more than the stated rate of yield of investments. If you had needed to "cash-in" your investment before maturity this past year, you would sustain substantial losses. In 1969 only Upland Savings would have returned your investment plus high earnings.

You too, can benefit by saving with us.

The California PTA. sometimes called the conscience of the community, has begun evaluating its efforts in the field of drug abuse prevention. That PTA efforts will continue is assured by recent action of the State and National bodies.

While prevention of drug abuse and the use of alcohol and tobacco have been continuing concerns, impetus was given in 1968 through a letter co-signed by the Governor and the president of the California PTA urging that all secondary PTAs encourage formation of drug abuse committees.

As a result special committees have been formed in many areas. hundreds of educational programs have been held and PTAs have cooperated in developing community projects.

new drug abuse com-mittee will continue to provide guidance to the local units, according to Mrs. James E. Davis, San Bernardino, chair-man. Members of the committee are Mrs. Bedford Maddox, San Francisco, Mrs. Dan Johnson, Hayward, and Mrs. Leo Ness, El Cajon. They will also represent the California PTA at meetings of the California Interagency Council on Drug Abuse. Arthur Suddilan, coordina-tor of the California State Office of Narcotics and PTAs advisory board.

Drug Abuse Coordina-tion, has accepted appointment as a member of the California PTA's advisory board. Mrs. Robert T. Adams, Lafayette, former chair-man of the California PTA Drug Abuse committee, said of the philosophy developed by the committee during the past two years, "We have felt that it is very important to work harder on prevention and that people need to separate fact from myth. The schools need to try non traditional approaches to the drug abuse problem. There seems to be a lack a developed curriculum. One of PTA's biggest problems is to find how to fit our efforts in with those of the schools and to work with them."

of trained teachers and of

She reported that drug abuse projects developed by communities throughout the state vary and often were instigated by young people. At Davis four students, after investigating needs and resources, visited 92 doctors and spearheaded the start of a center called Diogenes House.

At Lafayette a curriculum - development committee composed of school staff, PTA members and students enlisted community support for a Drug Awareness week.

At Antioch a community project called Reach has resulted in the formation of a youth council on drugs, in efforts to find jobs and homes for ex-addicts and in providing ex-addict counselors in the schools. Pittsburgh, California, has a center which carries on prevention, educational and treatment programs in which they are hopeful of developing a methadone - mainten ance program.

At a recent meeting of the drug abuse com-mittee of Fifth District PTA in San Bernardino, Dr. Mildred E. Scott of the County Health De-partment spoke of the changes which she believes has taken place toward the acceptance of drug abuse as a problem. "Parents," she said, "are not only recognizing the need for help but are willing to do some - thing about it."

The National PTA's new Action Program built on the theme, "Quality Living and Quality "Quality Learning for All Amer-icans," which was intro-duced at the 74th annual convention in New Orleans, May 31 to June 3, lists drug abuse first among priority areas for PTA action.

The Action Program suggests that PTA's work to provide understanding of why the young drink and use drugs; inform youth and adults of the consequences of drug abuse and of the laws governing their use; encourage passage of workable, enforceable, reasonable laws; sponsor discussions and sinulated situations to help youth determine in advance how they will deal with pressures to drink or use drugs; give guidance to parents and teachers on how to detect drug abuse and help young

New welfare regulations

Legislation authored in 1969 by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, (R-35th District), which authorizes county supervisors to contract with private employment agencies for job placement of welfare recipients should finally produce results.

After nearly a year's negotiations with the Federal Government the California Department of Social Welfare has adopted regulations to implement Briggs' legisla-

Specifically, welfare recipients who have not been successful in job placement through the State Department of Employment can now seek employment through private agencies. The cost for such placement would be borne by Federal, State and County governments on an equal basis, Assemblyman Briggs said: "The skyrocketing cost of welfare in the State of California demands the constant attention of the legislature. We must find new ways to get recipients off welfare rolls and onto payrolls.

"I'm satisfied the regulations which have just been adopted by the Department of Social Welfare pursuant to my 1969 legislation will serve as the first step in transforming welfare recipients into wage

'Risk students' are now upward bound

They're called risk students.

They're from low-income families. They've been getting C's and D's in high school. A few are on probation from Juvenile Court.

But this summer, in a program called Upward Bound, they're discovering they can think. If the program's track records holds, about 40 of the 48 enrolled will go on to college in a year or two, and they'll do

The students are juniors and seniors from five Pomona Valley area high schools: Pomona, Garey, (in Pomona), Al-ta Loma, Bonita (in La Verne) and Chino. Most of them are Chicanos or Blacks. Their teachers and administrators chose them for Upward Bound because they obviously have more steam than they've been using.

They're spending a month at The Claremont Colleges hearing stimulating lectures, writing compositions, learning crafts, discussing and playing. During the next school year they'll be back on campus Satur days, and some will attend a few college classes during the week. The theme is "Critical Thinking and Analysis."

What does Upward Bound mean to the students after the first two weeks of the summer program?

"I'm learning to get along with people." makes you think."

"It's a great opportunit to get involved socially, and also to get into college."

"Opportunity." "A chance to change opinions."

"Opportunity to ex-press my views." "I'm learning about myself."

Octavio Boubin, program director, said:

"Our objective is to find the usually quiet young people, stimulate them intellectually, give them confidence they can think. Then during the regular school year they can work on the skills they need."

The students live in two dormit ories at Scripps College. They hear lectures and have discussion mornings and evenings on philosophy, English, psychology, sociology, politics, law, government and religion.

They attend academic classes and workshops afternoons. Classes in-clude English composition, vocabulary building, directed reading and research, and mathema-tics. Each student chooses two workshops from 10 offered: ceramics, painting, modern dance, journalism, drama, music, sewing, guitar, photography, and arts and

The young people also attend beach parties, barbecues, a play in Los Angeles, museums, and a major movie in Los Angeles.

Boubion directs a staff of 11, three of them professionals and the rest college undergraduates. They helped him set up the program, including stiff regulations for conduct.

"Our rules are very strict," Boubion said. "There's a lot of structure here, and the kids love it. They don't mind being tough with

The program started with 52 high school students. Four defied the rules and were dropped. The staff has no time for disruption.

Upward Bound is sponsored here by the United States Office of Education and The Claremont Colleges through their Human Resources Institute.

4-H spans the generation gap

One of the reasons, observes a 4-H spokesman, is that 4-H boys and girls are always doing things, a require-ment of 4-H membership. Since 4-H is a "learn-process, the youngsters decide what they want to do, talk it over with their parents, and DO it. And parents get involved, too. For example, members working on a field

by - doing" educational crops science project are learning how to make things grow where they did not grow before, or improving crops on the family farm.

Whether 4-H'ers live on a 1,000-acre spread or a 1-acre place, they study soil testing, planting, weed and insect con-trol. They experiment with seed germination, effect of weather and light on plant growth, and dif ferent types of soil.

During the course of the project, parents learn new things, too. County extension agents and other specialists working for the Cooperative Extension Service super vise the 4-H program. What's more, dad or mother frequently volunteer as a project leader.

Helping to close the generation gap between industry and youth is the field crops science program sponsor, Amchem Products, Inc., of Amb-ler, Pa. Amchem officials, through the National 4-H Service Committee, are kept informed of achievements in the nationwide program. The sponsor also provides annual incentive awards at the county, state and national levels. This year's awards consist of up to four medals per county, and a certificate of honor for the state winner.

Projects vary according to interests, needs and availability of land. A work unit entitled "Exploring the World of Plants and Soils" outline fascinating experiments for non-farm 4-H members and rural youths as well.

Information on how to be a part of the 4-H scene can be obtained from the county Extension Service office.

wish I could hurt your hurts for you; wish I could shed all your tears. wish I could take on the heartaches That come with these "growing up" years. wish I could give you a rainbow To brighten up all of your skies; wish I could make it all laughter Whenever there're tears in your eyes. I wish I could give you the Earth, dear, And all of the Heavens above. But since I am only your Mother, All I can give you -- is love. I can't give you a lifetime of roses And the rainbow's not mine to give. The only thing I can offer Is my love -- for as long as I live.

B of A gives answer to inflation control

In a special report advising against the implementation of wage and price controls, Bank of America today termed increasing productivity the key to controlling in-

"The broad policies of economic restraint that have been pursued for the past year and a half are now beginning to re-strain inflation," according to the world's lar gest bank.

To encourage renewed business growth and a slowing in the pace of inflation, the bank urged a continuation of the modest easing in monetary policy and shifting more of the anti-inflationary burden to fiscal policy.

In its "Focus on Wage and Price Controls," the bank stated:

"A modest, but steady easing in monetary policy is essential to restore liquidity and confidence to the financial markets. A fundamental lesson of the past few years is that deficit government spending must be controlled if we are to achieve our national objectives of a higher quality of life in a non-inflationary, fullemployment economy.

"Spending priorities must be established and maintained. Some public and private demands must be denied, if other more essential ones are to be satisfied.

"The key to sustained progress toward contolling inflation in a fully employed economy is to increase productivity. To this end, the Presidential Commission on Productivity is definitely a step in the right direc-can assist managements and labor in understanding their responsibilities in the battle against inflation. Only if price growth has shown no signs of diminishing during the next few months should wage and price guidelines be considered as the next policy step,'

The advantages of wage and price controls, according to the report, are quick application, immediate impact, and fairly complete coverage.

However, Bank of America believes the advantages are outweighed by such disadvantages as temporary impact; distortion of the allocation of resources, and administrative expense.

Also, controls "do not prevent the accumulation of private purchasing power that will restimulate inflation after the controls are removed.

"Because of their tremendous disadvantages and the distortions they produce in the allocation of resources, wage and price controls should be used only in the case of an extreme economic emergency.

"In the judgment of the management of Bank of America, the current inflationary state of the economy is not so serious as to warrant such severe measures.

"When the controls fail or when they are finally removed, the original distortions will merely reappear -- and could in more severe form, raising the spectre of a real crisis of confidence."

Oh, please spare me!

The villain was foiled, as in the old melodrama plot show recently by the Bonita High School summer drama workshop. A few of the actors roamed downtown La Verne during old-fashioned days and were caught off-guard for a quick photo.

Pangola grass, coffee draw Cal Poly students

"If we can't grow pan gola grass here, or maintain a grove of coffee trees or a herd of Criollo cattle, we'll go where we can.

And that is what 11 California State Polytechnic College, Kellogg-Voorhis, Pomona stu-dents enrolled in Latin American agriculture have traveled 106 hours by bus to do in the first summer of the Cal Poly El Salvador workstudy program, according to Dr. Milton M. Snodgrass, chairman of international agriculture.

Snodgrass said the pioneering four women and seven men, including two married couples, are at the Escuela Nacional Agricultura (National School of Agriculture), 15 miles from the capital city of San Salvador, for an eight-week summer program.

"Cal Poly's work study program is unique in several important respects," says Snodgrass, who is responsible for the planning. "Thousands of American students are traveling and working in Europe and Africa and South America this summer. But most of their itineraries don't allow for any real, longterm interchange between them and the prople of the countries they visit. Ours does.'

Cal Poly students are thoroughly integrated into the student life of the school, living on campus, attending classes, and, most important of all, working in the fields with the Salvadorian students.

The daily routine be gins with a 6 a.m., break-fast. From 7 to 11 a.m., Mondays through Satur days, they work in the fields or with the antmals. From 1 to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fri-days, they attend classes and work on their individual research projects.

Another distinguishing feature of the program which Snodgrass points out is the students' individual research projects. Each member of the Cal Poly entourage has an agriculturally - related problem inherent to the locale--the San Andreas Valley.

These projects include a study of the food habits and nutritive value of common diets among the peasants; an identifica tion of harmful species of root-knot nematodes in the valley; a study of post-harvesting physiol - ogy of tropical fruits; a survey on the mineralogical properties of the soil; and an investigation of the dairy industry in El Salvador.

"In this way the study abroad program makes direct contribution to the land and the people, and benefits them as well as out students." Snodgrass explains.

Other important aspects of the summer program are basic to the entire Latin American agriculture major at Cal Poly. Emphasis is given to language competence, to an understanding of the total cultural and economic climate of Latin America, and to learning about the ecology and the special problems it gives rise to.

Cal Poly students en-rolled in the El Salvadorian program were required to have two years of college level Spanish or its equivalent. Eventually the will be exposed to a generous portion of Latin American history, geography, political science, and inter-American relations. Some of this was preparatory for the trip; some will be completed upon their return.

All of the program stu-dents are juniors and seniors; eight are majoring in Latin American agriculture; one in his-tory, one in fruit industries; and one in physi-cal sciences. All of the group live in Southern California,

Hope Auxiliaries

LOS ANGELES--Nearly 440 City of Hope auxiliaries in southern California and across the U.S. recently joined in mark-ing the 25th anniversary of Executive Director Ben Horowitz with the City of honor founder

The Board of Directors and chapter leaders in Los Angeles paid tribute to Horowitz by present-ing him with the original casting of the "Spirit of Life" sculpture, now the symbol of the City of Hope. Sculpted by Wyoming's Pobert Russin, it depicts a mother, father and child and stands at the entrance to the free and non-sectarian Medical Center in Duarte.

Horowitz joined the staff in 1945 as eastern regional director, later became national executive secretary, and came to Los Angeles in 1953 as executive director. He was previously a teacher. author, attorney and lead-er in other major philanthropic organizations. Under his leadership, the medical and research center has grown to international prominence.

Horowitz originated the concept of the City of Hope as a pilot medical center seeking to influence medicine and science everywhere through qualitative and innovative programs. Many of these programs are today being emulated by other medical facilities in this country and abroad.

They encompass patient care, scientific research and medical education in the catastrophic diseases -- cancer and leukemia, blood, chest and heart, and certain hereditary disorders. Horowitz formulated an approach for broad public support without parallel in the history of American philanthropy. His au-thorship of the City of Hope constitution and bylaws established an effective framework for organizational operations and policy-making by volunteers. He originated an approach which encompassed all segments of American life from the mass base of small donors to a large group of big donors. Today the City of Hope Medical Center is supported by 438 chapters in 182 cities in 25 states and Washington, D.C.

With City of Hope President Emanuel H. Fineman, Horowitz is a co-author of the $18 million fundraising effort for expansion under way at the medical center which includes new buildings, programs, equipment and staff and will be the larg-est single expansion in the 57-year history of the

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Quiraby said his bill will be quite welcome."

Most people think Her Majesty the Dairy Cow has big, brown eyes.

They're big, but they are dark blue, nearly black

This column of queseral tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently Q. What should you

Q. What should you do if you get a bill for taxes you've already

A. If you have paid the tax recently you can disregard the notice. It was probably issued before the payment had been credited to your account. However, if the payment was made more than four weeks ago return the notice, indicating when the payment was made and where it was sent.

If you have a cancelled check for the payment also indicate any numbers stamped on the check by IRS. This will help trace the payment.

Q. Is it true that stock market losses are only partially deductible under the new tax law?

A. The new law does make changes in the handling of long-term capital losses. These losses can still be used to offset capital gains, but when long-term capital losses are greater than capital gains, each $1 of the loss can be used to offset only 50¢ of ordinary income.

Short - term capital losses continue to offset ordinary income dollar for dollar.

Q. I work two jobs and both employers are taking out Social Security. Can I do anything about it?

A. The law requires each employer to withhold Social Security tax on the first $7,800 of an employee's wages. If more than the maximum of $374.40 is withheld for Social Security tax in 1970 because you had more than one employer, you can claim a credit for the excess on your 1970 income tax return.

Q. I do a lot of traveling on my new job. What kind of records should I keep on my food and lodging costs?

A. A cancelled check together with a bill stamped paid can be used to establish the amount of your lodging and the date. A diary or similar record of your meal costs is acceptable if entries are made when the costs are incurred.

Rules on travel ex-penses are detailed in Publication 463, Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses. For a free copy write your District Director.

Q. Can a self-employed individual set up his own retirement plan?

A. Yes, if you are in business for yourself you may deduct your contributions to a self-employed retirement plan, provided that the contri-butions are based on earned income. Your business can be either full or part-time.

For details, send a post card to your District Director and ask for a copy of Publication 566, Questions and Answers on Retirement Plans for the Self-Employed, It's free.

Q. There have been some changes in my tax situation since I filled out my estimated return in April. Can I change it now? A. Yes, recompute your estimated tax on the worksheet included in your 1040ES package before you make your third installment payment in September. The amended tax figure and the new payment amount should be shown on the voucher you send in with your payment.

Californians who mail gifts to out-of-state friends and relatives and to servicemen in Viet-Nam would receive some tax relief in legislation by Assemblyman John Quimby, D - Rialto. The bill has cleared the Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, AB1081, directs the State Board of Equalization to halt the sales tax levy on all merchandise purchased in California stores but shipped out of state.

"There has been major confusion in recent years on whether or not such purchases require paying the five per cent state sales tax, the lawmaker said. Existing tax laws are not clear and because of that, the Board of Equal ization has been requiring payment of the tax.

Theology schools helps with handicapped in theological education, where seminary students learn to counsel the handicapped, is taking place in Southern California between the School of Theology at Claremont and the Casa Colina Hospital for Rehabilitative Medicine in Pomona.

It is believed this is the first time any divinity school has presented, as a part of its course work, directed participation in a therapeutic program for massive and irreversible disability. What makes the Clare mont program an innovation is that is is not an internship but is part of the regular curriculum offerings at the School.

The course was launched in the spring semester of 1970, when 12 Claremont theological students participated in a weekly seminar held at Casa Colina, three miles away.

The seminar is led by Daniel J. Feldman, M.D., who is clinical director of the hospital and holds an appointment as visiting clinical professor of rehabilitative medicine at the School of Theology at Claremont. He also is clinical professor of medicine and community medicine at the University of Calif ornia at San Diego, which recognizes Casa Colina as a teaching hospital. Dr. Feldman was director of the division of rehabilitative medicine at Stanford University School of Medicine 1960-68, having come there from New York University. He has long been recognized as an authority in rehabilitative medicine and alcoholism.

Quality of Life Stressed Casa Colina is being watched nationally for its pioneering work in applying radical new approaches to the age-old problems of disability and handicap, stressing a new dimension in human service to improve the quality of life."

Founded in Chino in 1238 as a convalescent home for post-polio children Casa Colina moved to Pomona in 1960 as a rehabilitation center and in 1967 became a fully accredited hospital. It now provides rehabilitation programs for the full range of the handicapped and disabled of any age, whether through accident, disease, or birth defects.

In addition to physical and occupational therapy. Casa Colina has developed a team approach to the social and psychological rehabilitation of the seriously disabled, involving social workers, clergymen, psychological, and medical

"We are dealing with a different problem from that of most other medical treatment," says Dr. Feldman. "The key to our operation is that our people are not going to get 'well,' and we are concerned with the transition of a person from being sick to being different. We are con-cerned with the whole quality of life of the per-

We are making an approach similar to that being applied in mental health, where problems are now less frequently dealt with as treatment of illness, but rather as education of the person to grow up and become mature. Basically, our job is a teaching job.' Contrast

"This is where the seminary students come "We have discovered a " Feldman continues. vast difference between the approaches of the physician and the minis-

The physician regards his primary responsibility to be the discovery and treatment of the disease process, He is concerned about other aspects of the patient, but lacks the time, the skills, or the orientation to deal with the social and emotional problems. Society's Attitudes

Dr. Feldman points out that while the human race has come a long way in its attitudes toward disabled people from the days when they were driven out of the city to become beggars, people are still uncomfortable in the presence of handicapped persons.

Today's more sophis ticated approach is to isolate them out of sight in modern institutions. This attitude, Dr. Feldman believes, tends to be re-inforced by Biblical expressions of distaste for deformity, be ginning with a list of Leviticus of physical disabilities disqualifying men for the priesthood, on through the somewhat disparaging New Testament refrain of "the halt, the lame, and the blind." Considerable alteration of attitude is shown in Jesus' general identification with the disabled and in widespread accounts of healings, with four instances of causing "the lame to walk."

Dr. Feldman believes the church has a great opportunity through "an aggressive ministry" to improve social thinking about the disabled. He cites the change in general outlook toward alcoholism, from punish-ment and censorship to understanding of the human problem, as a hope-ful example of a healthy change in social attitude. Participation

Another aspect of the Casa Colina approach in which the Caremont seminary students have proven helpful is the inclusion of the patient and his family in the decision-making process at each step of the rehabilitation program.

"The current campus situation shows us," says Dr. Feldman, "that it is important to include people on decisions that affect them. Historically it has been assumed that the patient is to be passive. The words 'patient' and 'passive' come from the same root.

"The doctor has been an authoritarian figure in whose hands the patient has placed himself. The counseling pastor has an important role in helping the disabled patient find himself and take an active part in his own psychological and spiritual rehabilitation."

Student Reaction One of the seminary students who participated in the first group, Wilson Daniel, says, "This Daniel, says, "This course was excellent and ought to be a compulsory requirement for all who intend to specialize in pastoral care and counseling. The team consultations and preliminary interviews with prospective patients, the seminars with various specialists, and the regular contacts with patients and outpatients are most valuable.

The opportunity which Casa Colina affords for interaction between pas tor, rehabilitative counselors, psychologists, psychiatrists, physici-ans, nursing staff, physiotherapists, and speech therapists is excellent and is something which is not always available to seminary students."

Among the changes contemplated during the fall semester include the possibility of home visits, a continuing counseling relationship between the student and the pat ient's dependents.

The drunk driver. He helps to eliminate the overcrowding in our classrooms.

Drunk drivers kill and injure our children.

Last year, almost 6,000 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic accidents. Countless thousands were seriously injured.

No one can be sure how many drunken drivers were responsible. But even one death or one injury is one too many.

What can you do?

Remember, it's not the drink that kills. It's the drunk, the problem drinker, the abusive drinker, the drunk driver.

Remember, drunk drivers may be sick, and we've got to give them help. But first we've got to get them off the road. For their sake and yours.

To find out what you can do, write the National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, 60611.
